The Role of Listed Companies in Creating A Fair and Prosperous Society

Business as usual will no longer be acceptable and will take on a new meaning in the New Malaysia. Top-down leadership is no longer sufficient to sustain growth. Bottom-up inclusion and engagement in every facet of business conduct is a prerequisite for success in the 21st century.

Is your company prepared to confront these challenges to design a new social contract for the Malaysia of the future?

The workshop examines how in the new environment the corporate sector needs to address the fundamental issues related to creating a fair and prosperous Malaysia. These include:

- Understanding the shift that has taken place and its implications for better governance,
- Confronting ethical dilemmas that come with heightened public expectations and media scrutiny,
- Shifting mind-sets and behaviours from “business as usual” as paths to improvement,
- Fostering meritocracy to create robust organisations,
- Leveraging a multi-cultural workforce to be the best in ASEAN, and
- Responding to rising global regulatory demands.
